NEW EDUCATION
FACILITIES IN BRITAIN

A pamphlet has recently been published by the ministry of education in the United Kingdom giving details of comprehensive plans for the part time training of young persons between the ages of 15 and 18. The object of this training is to impart to the young people not only essential knowledge, but in particular to develop their characters and help them to live a healthy life as far as possible. The educational plan provides for about 1,121,000 young persons taking the courses. Attendance will be required for one day or two half-days per week or for a continuous period of either eight weeks or two periods of four weeks during the year. 18,000 to 20,000 teachers will be required to instruct the pupils in the essential specialized subjects. Special attention is to be devoted to sports such as swimming, dancing, gymastics, fencing, boxing and wrestling.

STRIKES AND LOCKOUTS

DURING OCTOBER, 1945

An increase of 64 per cent in time lost due to strikes in the first ten months of 1945, compared with the same period of 1944, has been announced by Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, minister of labor. This increase in time lost is in great part attributable to the automotive strike in the Windsor area.

Figures for this year to the end of October show 154 strikes as having occurred, involving 66,975 man-days, with a time loss of 774,754 man-days. This compares with 180 strikes, with 71,703 workers involved and a time loss of 472,533 man-days for the same period in 1944.

The month of October this year showed a sharp increase of the number of man-days lost due to strikes, compared with the previous month. Sixteen strikes were reported in October, involving 22,257 workers and a time loss of 419,210 man-days, as against 17 strikes involving 19,754 workers and a time loss of 185,251 man-days in September, 1945. Only three strikes were reported as still continuing at the end of October.

A local high school boy wrote the following impression of an English teacher: "The burly place of Captain Kidd's treasure has never leaked out, although seekers after the rich plum have pumped dry every scintilla of even a faint scent that might lead to the veil of the unfathomable obscurity with which history has enshrouded its location."

MASS OF EVIDENCE IN COAL INQUIRY

Canada's royal commission inquiry into the Canadian coal industry, has gathered more than 6,000 pages of evidence and 250 exhibits in addition to engineers' and chartered accountants' reports which must be considered before the commission renders its report, according to Angus J. Morrison, secretary of District 18 of the United Mine Workers of America. Mr. Morrison is one of the three members of the commission.

He returned to Calgary recently, as the investigation is temporarily adjourned. He will return to Ottawa at the first of the year when the sessions will be resumed. He will not estimate how long it would be before the commission's work would be finished and a report made.

THEY COME HOME

ON THEIR STOMACHS

The Canadian army overseas, like all armies since the dawn of time, marched on its stomach.

Looking at the list of groceries the Elizabeth takes on when bringing troops back, they also came home on them, and mighty good sailing it appears to be.

For instance: If the ship's cook serves sausages for breakfast it would take four miles of them to supply the demand. Churchill might have remarked, "Some sausages."

Fifty thousand loaves of bread-baked aboard ship would fill a nice sized box car. If the soldier was blessed with Scotch ancestors he'll likely want porridge for breakfast. The Elizabeth's answer to that is 90 thousand pounds of oatmeal for one trip.

One 40,000 pound sack of sugar required for one sailing, if piled in jute bags, would be as tall as a haystack.

And it would take a flock of 300 hens laying the year 'round to supply the 90 thousand eggs required for the boys for the trip home, two for breakfast per man.

Seven hundred good sized steers would supply the meat. Enough tea and coffee are required for two million cups for the troops alone, not to mention the crew of 800 men who must be accounted for, besides.

Fifteen thousand pounds of dried beans, peas and split peas solve some of the vegetable problem, with an added 15 thousand tins of canned stuff.

"How long," ran the first question, "is a piece of string?" To which the applicant replied: "A piece of string is twice as long as the distance between its centre and either end."

"How far," pleaded the second query, "can a dog run into the woods?" "A dog can run only half way into the woods," said the bright boy from college. "After that he's running out of the woods."

When the next questionnaire was handed out, the two trick questions were strangely missing.

Teach The Truth

THERE ARE MANY APPROACHES to the problem of eradicating Nazism from the minds of the German people, and of establishing a sane and humanitarian outlook. While they were in office, Hitler and his followers used every means they could devise to sow seeds of greed, cruelty and hate in the minds of both children and adults, and the task of undoing their evil work is an enormous one. One of the most direct and effective ways of dealing with the problem is through the schools and work has already started on the re-organization of the German educational system. In the British zone in Germany military authorities have proceeded speedily with arrangements to open schools and secure teachers and textbooks. At the middle of October it was reported that some 6,500 schools had been re-opened, with an attendance of approximately 1,150,000 pupils.

Great Scarcity Of Textbooks The greatest difficulty in the way of re-organizing the educational system has been in securing suitable textbooks, books which had been used in the schools during the Nazi regime containing military and Fascist propaganda, and were all destroyed on order of the British military authorities. In their place, reprints of 1933 textbooks of German authors were brought back into use after being carefully examined and found suitable. In spite of the serious paper shortage, one million books have already been printed for use in the lower grades in elementary schools. As an experiment, textbooks for teaching English to Hamburg children are being written in Basic English. School broadcasts are used to help all gaps left by shortages of textbooks and films are also used for this purpose. Teachers are chosen with great care, and it has been possible to find many who are anxious to undo the harm done by the Nazis, and to teach the new generation of Germans that hate and greed do not pay.

Critical Lack Of Buildings The shortage of school buildings has also proved a difficult problem and at the beginning of the period of British occupation none were available, all having been destroyed or used for other purposes. Now many have been restored for use, but there is great over-crowding in most districts and often several schools share one building, schools hours being "staggered" and classes begin and end from eight in the morning until eight at night. The teachers are faced with many difficulties. Older children have been taught Nazi principles and must now be re-educated. Younger children are retarded because of the disorganization caused by air-raids and the general confusion which preceded the collapse of Germany last spring. "Teach the Truth" is the basis of education by the British in Germany, and it is to be hoped that through this, foundations may be laid for a new democratic Germany which will comprehend the values of peaceful living and co-operation with other nations.

SMILE AWHILE

A waitress asked me what I wanted. "I feel like a sandwich," I said. She said, "Just give me your order. Don't blame me if the place is overcrowded."

The optimist believes that the time is ripe.

The pessimist is convinced that it's rotten.

"Aren't you waiting up for Dad tonight, Mother?"

"It's no use. With this cold I can hardly speak."

Haughty and stressed I am a woman of few words. If I break with my finger, I mean "come".

New Maid—I am a woman of few words, too. If I shake my head I mean I ain't coming.

"Did you say that any incompetent man could run an automobile?"

"No. I said that an experienced man could."

Blake: Don't you think it a good idea to rate all cars according to their horsepower?

Drake: Not as good as rating all drivers according to their horse sense.

"Hard work never killed any one."

"That's the trouble, Dad. I want to do something with the spirit of danger in it."

Uncle: "How old is the baby?"

Proud Father: "Six months."

Bachelor Uncle: "Talk yet?"

Proud Father: "No, not yet."

Bachelor Uncle: "Boy, eh?"

Husband: "That racket? Oh, that's the coal men dumping the coal in the basement."

Wife: "I thought you ordered soft coal this year!"

"Well, he's that short-sighted he can't see when the boss ain't lookin' in!"

"My dear, surely you haven't seen me this afternoon at the Smiths?"

Yes, Auntie. They said such things about everyone who left that I didn't dare come away."

WHERE HE LEFT OFF An Army captain walked into the library at Baltimore and asked for a copy of "The Sun". Steen's novel, "The Sun" is My Life, the Army official said the captain explained he had read as far as page 735 when he went overseas in 1941 and now wanted to finish the book. He has 441 pages to go.

FIRST OIL WELL

Real beginnings of the petroleum industry in the world date back only to the middle of the 19th century when the first oil well was sunk in deliberate search for a supply of "black gold".

An Old Problem

How To Open Sardine Cans In Fuzzing British People

Britain is obtaining 28,000,000 tins of sardines from Spain, and the old problem of how to open a can of sardines has reappeared in post-war form. Letters in the newspapers have raised the question why, in this modern age, someone does not invent an easy method of getting sardines out of the can. During the war, when sardines were scarce, the tins were often distributed without the key which is intended for opening them.

Answer To Last Week's Puzzle

Price Control And Rationing Information

Q—Where do I apply for a permit for a new automobile?

A—You apply to the nearest office of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board. Permits are given on a priority system.

Q—I am living in a hotel for the winter months and eat my meals at nearby restaurants. What should I do with my ration coupons?

A—After a four weeks' residence in a tourist's establishment, under whose management you are staying, management is required to collect the guest's ration book. When you move from the hotel, your ration book will be returned to you.

Q—I am a farmer and selling turkeys direct to the consumer. What price may I charge for them?

A—Under present regulations the primary producer (yourself) cannot sell turkeys direct to the consumer at a price which would be above that charged by retail shops according to grade.

Q—I am a farmer, do I have to collect coupons when I sell meat to my farmer neighbour?

A—Yes. Farmers who slaughter livestock must collect meat coupons for all the meat they sell.

Q—I have a small business in the community. How can I get my ration book?

A—You apply to the nearest office of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

Q—Please send your questions or your request for the pamphlet "Consumers' News" or the Blue Book to the nearest office of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

Q—How can I get my ration book?

A—You apply to the nearest office of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

Q—What is the reason for the new peak in the cost of living?

A—The reason is that there can be no evolution in an economic system so ingeniously contrived that everyone will have a high living standard and the cost of living will be aggregated to the point of inflation.

Huge Loan To Britain By U.S. Is Reported

LONDON.—London morning news papers said that the United States and Great Britain had concluded negotiations for a loan of $4,400,000,000 to Britain.

The Daily Herald, Labor, in reporting that an agreement had been reached in Washington on the loan, said repayment of the loan will be over a 50-year period starting from 1946, but no interest will be payable for the first five years.

During the remaining period, the Herald said, the rate of interest will be two per cent, or about $88,000,000 a year.

The Daily Sketch, the Daily Mail and the News Chronicle also published special despatches from Washington and New York stating the loan agreement had been reached.

The Sketch said the loan "will ease Britain's winter" and termed the move a "Magna Carta for world trade."

The Daily Mail said "A jog has been given to world trade by the great deal."

The Mail said the long and detailed document, listing the terms of the loan, included a provision that Britain would contribute 10 per cent of its sterling debt and dissolution of the dollar pool. Another provision, the Mail said, was that Britain join the United States in a long-range plan to reduce tariffs and eliminate quotas affecting world trade.

Another provision in the agreement, the Daily Herald said, calls for British support of the Bretton Woods international monetary plan.

The international monetary conference held at Bretton Woods, N.H., in July, 1944, called for an international stabilization fund of $3,800,000,000, with the following share for major powers: United States, $2,750,000,000; Britain, $1,300,000,000; Russia, $1,200,000,000; China, $550,000,000; France, $450,000,000. Canada was asked to put up $300,000,000.

The Herald expressed the opinion "that the new arrangement will not prevent an expansion of trade with the Commonwealth, but it enables the Dominions to make immediate essential purchases in the United States."

The loan must be approved by Congress.

NAMES MENTIONED

Three Suggested As Possibility For Secretary-General of U.N.O.

The three names being mentioned here as possibilities for the post of secretary-general of the United Nations organization which will come into operation on a permanent basis next month. They are General Eisenhower, American chief of staff; Anthony Eden, former British foreign secretary and Lester B. Pearson, Canadian ambassador to Washington.

If the headquarters of the organization are established in the United States, as now appears likely, the key job of secretary-general, according to opinion of members of the United Nations conference, is not likely to go to an American.

PRICE INCREASES

Authorized On Fats And Raisins Imported From Canada

OTTAWA.—Price increases have been authorized on the sale of the new crop of imported California prunes and raisins which come on the market during the next few weeks, the prices board announced.

There has been a substantial increase in the cost of these fruits and the decision has been taken to pass on a portion of this increase the board said. Prices to consumers will be about 3½ cents per pound higher, but considerably below the increases which have occurred in the United States.

COST OF WAR

WASHINGTON.—Want to know what the last war cost the world? According to a survey by researcher James H. Brady and the American University in Washington, it was about one trillion 154-billion dollars and about 230-billion dollars in property damage.

That doesn't include cost of armaments and property damage in China, for which figures are not available.

NAVY WEEK.—Navy Week was inaugurated by an address by Lord Cunningham of Hyndhope, Britain's first sea lord, who, as commander of the Royal Navy's Mediterranean force, erased the words "Mare Nostrum" from Mussolini's dictionary. It now covers the empire over "A.B.C." Admiral Cunningham spoke from England across the dominion-wide network.

Need More Flax To Overcome The Oil Shortage

OTTAWA.—A review of the 1944 position of the fats and oils situation by the combined food board shows a "substantial deficit of supplies against requirements." The Dominion-provincial agricultural conference told.

Dr. F. H. Leiberg, oils and fats administrator, said the world's exportable surplus, which formerly was divided among Canada, the United States and Britain, now must be apportioned among 16 more claimants demanding a share of world supplies.

In the light of these facts, it is recommended that flax and sunflower acreage be increased and the rapeseed and soybean acreage maintained.

Dr. Leiberg's report was the high-light of the conference, with the exception of making recommendations for 1946 production objectives for Canadian agriculture.

The conference considered estimates for production of Canada's dairy industry and heard reports indicating increased production of butter, cheddar, cheese, eggs, poultry and milk this year over 1943.

The butter statistics, vital to Canadians still on a war-induced and shortened butter ration, showed estimated production of creamery butter at 900,500,000 will be left for domestic use after exports of 4,000,000 pounds. This does not include a yearly 40,000,000-pound carryover to the next butter-making season.

Dr. Leiberg said future industrial butter production will depend on the output of flaxseed because it is the only seed available to supply the paint and other industries with linseed oil, which is derived from flaxseed.

The 1945 flaxseed crop was estimated at 37,800,000 bushels, substantially lower than the 1944 harvest. 9,000,000 bushels and well below the 1943 144,444 bushels of 16,632,000. Manitoba acreage increased substantially from 387,500 in 1944 to 260,000 in 1945, but acreage in Saskatchewan dropped by 284,000 acres from 998,520 to 655,000. Alberta acreage declined to 119,000 from 219,500.

Due to a large decline in acreage, Saskatchewan's crop dropped from 6,400,000 bushels in 1944 to 3,684,000 in 1945.

WILL MAKE SURVEY

Federal Department Of Health Plans Preventive Program For Blindness

OTTAWA.—Health Minister Claxton announced in the commons that his department is undertaking a survey of medical records of all blind persons in Canada in an effort to determine the most common causes of blindness and to map a preventive program.

Mr. Claxton made the disclosure when his departmental estimates came before the house. He said plans were being prepared for the survey, which he said the department is to build, but it will be some time before actual construction starts.

In organizing the department, which was created a year ago, an effort was made to establish a close personal relationship with provincial health ministries and with other individuals and groups concerned with health.

EXTRA TROOP SHIPS

LONDON.—The Monarch of Bermuda and the Duchess of Bedford have been added to ships carrying Canadian servicemen home from the United Kingdom during December, Canadian military headquarters announced. Each vessel will carry approximately 5,000 men.

CHRISTMAS TURKEYS

Report That There Will Be A plentiful Supply This Year

OTTAWA.—Canadians from coast to coast received the good word that there will be plenty of Christmas turkeys.

Officials of the dairy division of the agricultural department said most of the birds would come from the prairies; they would be marketed at about the same ceiling prices as last year and this year's demand was expected to equal or better the heavy demand of 1944.

Table turkey, probably, will be second choice to turkeys as holiday season fare. And for those who prefer duck and goose, choice birds will be available in good supply, though demand for them is not expected to be great.

Turkey raisers in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta already are beginning to market birds fattened especially for Christmas fare.

Western production possibly may be down a bit from 1944, but will be up from the abysmal supply of western birds, most of which are shipped east to the gap between eastern production and supply.

Last year there was a shortage of turkeys in the east. But officials said this was not due to a lack of birds but to a lack of feed, particularly in Ontario, where lake and marsh birds, though expressed east, did not reach Ontario, Quebec and maritime points in time for Christmas. This year, it is expected that western marketing will be earlier and supplies will be well up from last year.

Price board officials gave the following scale of wholesale ceilings for special grade young hen and tom turkeys delivered to the retailer's place of business:

British Columbia, 37½ cents a pound; Saskatchewan 35½; Alberta, Manitoba, 36½; Ontario, Quebec, 38½, and Maritime-Gaspé region, 39½.

For grade "A" turkeys there is a one-cent reduction in the scale, for grade "B" a two-cent reduction and for grade "C" a three-cent reduction.

BETTER IN SPRING

Deputy Labor Minister Says Employment Situation Not Unduly Alarmingly

OTTAWA.—Arthur MacNamara, deputy labor minister, expressed belief the employment situation may improve during the winter to the extent that "we may easily have difficulty finding all the workers we require next spring."

Addressing the Dominion-provincial agricultural conference, Mr. MacNamara noted that Canada during the last 12 months had increased the price of an adult laborer in the spring, in the late spring and early summer to a situation of considerable unemployment in some localities. The situation was not "unduly alarming" but it was obvious that there were more men and women available than there were jobs available. The situation was being watched carefully and labor transfers were being facilitated where necessary.

MORE HUMANE USE

BERKELEY, Calif.—The University of California cyclotron will be used to study the effects of atomic energy on cancer and other malignant diseases, authorities said. Radioactive substances similar in some respects to those employed in atomic bombs may be used to combat cancer.

The 1945 flaxseed crop was estimated at 37,800,000 bushels, substantially lower than the 1944 harvest. 9,000,000 bushels and well below the 1943 144,444 bushels of 16,632,000. Manitoba acreage increased substantially from 387,500 in 1944 to 260,000 in 1945, but acreage in Saskatchewan dropped by 284,000 acres from 998,520 to 655,000. Due to a large decline in acreage, Saskatchewan's crop dropped from 6,400,000 bushels in 1944 to 3,684,000 in 1945.

That doesn't include cost of armaments and property damage in China, for which figures are not available.

REFUNDABLE TAXES

What Will Be Paid By Government As Soon As Possible

OTTAWA.—The declaration in the revised national emergency bill that the war is regarded officially as over on Jan. 1, 1946, if the bill becomes law, will mean that the government must start repaying refundable income taxes and the refundable portions of the excess profits taxes before April 1, 1946.

The income tax and excess profits tax laws provide that the refundable portions collected in 1942 must be paid back within two years after the war is over. This is the official declaration of the end of the war. This will be two years after March 31, 1946. The taxes collected in 1943 would be repayable before April 1, 1948, and so on.

However, it is expected the government will not wait that long but will start the repayments as soon as feasible.

The government owes approximately $260,000,000 on refunds on personal income taxes collected from 1942 to 1944 and $184,000,000 on excess profits taxes up to March 31, 1943.

SELF-RULE FOR INDIA

Will Be Granted As Soon As A Suitable Constitution Is Adopted

OTTAWA.—The British government reaffirmed its promise of self-government for India, but warned simultaneously that it would resist any attempt to resolve the issue by force.

A statement of policy read in the House of Commons said the government promised to turn the reins over to the Indians when a suitable constitution is adopted. But establishment of a continued assembly can scarcely be contemplated before the Indian elections next spring. The statement said the British government will be guided by the principles of self-government.

The statement said it was important that members of the British government have an opportunity to meet Indian political leaders and learn their views at first hand, and said the committee would be sponsored by the Empire Parliamentary Association.

VISIT UNLIKELY

Princess Elizabeth's Trip To Canada Regarded As Inappropriate Now

OTTAWA.—Reports that Princess Elizabeth will visit Canada in the fall of 1946 are discounted here. Such a visit is regarded as inappropriate in view of the shipping situation. It is felt also that it might involve the risk of criticism on the part of the "old soldiers" wives and families awaiting passage home.

Public reaction to the rumors concerning the visit apparently have been studied both at Buckingham Palace and by the Labor government. Among the Labor members of the cabinet, there is a general feeling that the risk is great that a visit of the princess to a role comparable to that of Empress Sissi played by Edward VIII to the throne. At the moment, however, the Labor government's attitude is that the risk is great that a visit of the princess to a role comparable to that of Empress Sissi played by Edward VIII to the throne.

Mr. Claxton said the risk is great that a visit of the princess to a role comparable to that of Empress Sissi played by Edward VIII to the throne.

There is a large pent-up demand for new construction which will not be met by the present controls, but the removal of the control restores the freedom of action in the construction field which had to be limited during the war.

All types of building supplies were rapidly increasing, he said, and the government would continue to make every possible effort to stimulate production.

CONTRIBUTE $2,000,000 TO
THE CANADIAN RED CROSS

The minister of labor announces that over two million dollars had been diverted to the Canadian Red Cross Society from the earning of postponed conscientious objectors from the commencement of alternative service to October 31, 1945. The exact amount is $2,162,189.16. Approximately 70 per cent of the postponed conscientious objectors are employed in agriculture.
The number performing alternative service in alternative service work camps is small, approximately 200. These are men who have so far refused to conform to the regulations.
Of the others, those who are physically qualified are employed on jobs that are not attractive to discharged service personnel. It is likely that alternative service control will carry on through the winter. The revocation of this control will in all probability be synchronized with the anticipated betterment of employment conditions in the early spring. It is pointed out, however, that by that time it is expected that all service personnel overseas, other than occupation forces, will likely have been returned to Canada, thus permitting revocation of the regulations on or about that time.

More than eight thousand coyotes have been killed in Alberta this year and their pelts turned in to the provivincial game branch for bounty payments. The number far exceeded the estimated take, as indicated by the fact that the government set aside only $17,000 for bounty, but paid out $40,415.

FORCED PEACETIME
MILITARY TRAINING

On every hand it is reported by employers that their staffs could be materially increased if the employment service could produce some skilled men. Sci pipe manufacturers could put on double shifts if skilled masons could be supplied, and thousands of unskilled men could be used on construction jobs if carpenters and bricklayers and other skilled tradesmen were available.

Given a few thousand skilled men, according to placement officers, the surplus would be absorbed very quickly.

Even the book surplus of job-seekers is not too factual, because there is certainly still great absorption possibility in certain types of work which is not too attractive to many, such as lumbering and logging, domestic and other such services.

In the two weeks ending November 9th, the number of unemployed applicants registered with NES offices increased by 11,000, while the number of vacancies decreased by 13,300. Almost 37,700 women were available to fill some 30,880 openings for female labor; 119,600 men were registered to fill 55,400 jobs in industries outside of logging, and fewer than 2,900 bushmen were registered to fill orders for almost 34,700 woodworkers. A Dominion-wide total of 160,029 jobseekers are compared with 120,922 job-seeks.

other blandly; "but he did confess that he'd done a lot of silly things before

Your radio-phonograph of tomorrow will bring you complete novels, dramas and symphonies magnetically impressed on small spools of steel wire. Hours of entertainment will be provided by a single spool no larger than your hand. And on spools of "blank" wire you will be able to make your own recordings—to keep permanently or to "wipe clean" for re-use any time you wish!
Yes, your Victory Bonds will buy greater pleasures and comforts tomorrow!

Men who think of tomorrow say
"HOLD ON TO YOUR VICTORY BONDS TODAY"

NO ONE can repeal the law of supply and demand. But we can make it work our way by holding on to Victory Bonds bought to finance our nation at war.

Here's why: For many months consumer goods will continue to be scarce. Bidding for these goods with our extra dollars, thus driving prices up, only serves to devalue all of our personal wealth, and that of the nation.

By leaving our extra money in safe keeping with our government—for repayment when conditions have become normal—we automatically keep prices down and maintain the law of supply and demand in balance.

That's why your Victory Bonds may save you twice what you've invested in them—if you hold on to them now. When tempted to cash them in—think of tomorrow!

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY

TILL WE MEET AGAIN

By SYLVIA Y. ENDLER

Copyright Wheeler Newspaper Syndicate

SOMEWHERE in that timeless river of pain, the lieutenant knew that he must have something to cling to, or go under. In another age, another time, he might have had the nerve and boldness to hold on, but now for a long time there was nothing. Then suddenly out of the mist, a face rose before him, smooth hair brushed in shining wings from a high white forehead, violet shadowed eyes, coral lips faintly parted and cool fragrant fingers.

She laughed at him, teased him, beckoned him; and sometimes there were tears, and once voices: "Quits a boy the lieutenant." He got the D.S.O." And another: "He deserves a bar for what he's been through on this side." But the first voice: "Well this is the final operation. He will be all right after this." But out of the whirling kaleidoscope it was only Dr. Read and his assistant whose gruff voices merged; she, the girl, was gone. However she came again in the flickering night, and in an encampment where death and pain and towering shadows it came were, And with the renewal of life, came the recurring image of the woman who had come, to him in the world of darkness. She tugged at the fringes of memory, this woman, who was him, with a soft, clinging, gentle touch of a hundred, dear remembered faces. Out of all other lovely memories, erased by pain and terror, that lovely face had emerged triumphant from the murky depths, to surround him with safety and serenity. The meaning of life, the meaning of a man, a being who can understand the depths of the mind and the heart, and the fragmentary experiences of life. All he knew, finally, with impatient certainty, was that he must find her to fulfill the promise, to destroy, forever the reason, the need to find and strengthen his manhood and his will. Until one day he was free to go to the ends of the earth to find this woman who had come to him when there was Nothing.

His bag was packed, his uniform pressed, a fond farewell made, and he, in his dreams, walked down the wide steps of the hospital into the world. He hailed a circling taxi with the curt word, "Station," and sat brooding in a dream while it sped through the streets. Ticket in hand, he stepped out onto the sidewalk like a somnambulist man, took his seat. At proper time, he went to the dining-room, he ate and slept, he smoked and changed, trains and stared out of the window at buildings, farms and cities rushing past, but he saw them not. His mind was dim, his body weak, the woman he was seeking, larger than life, her serene face blotched out all else.

WAS habit that made him reach for his bag just before the stop, that carried him off the steps and onto the station platform. And here he stopped dead while a thousand cymbals clashed and clanged in his brain, and rockets flew into the sky, and the earth trembled. For there she was as she had been when he last left. The same lovely honey-coloured hair, centre parted, and brushed in a circle of light around her head, the same violet-shadowed eyes, the same full red mouth, even the cool tapering fingers holding the same cigarette—the same serene face looking down upon his from the billboards.

After a while she ended night, and somewhere in that endless night of pain and shining hair, serene eyes and graceful hair, he knew he was in love with her. She find even, silent places of his mind and his thoughts blotting out everything else—even the pain which had hovered over him till now; and for a space, he slept. He awoke, lightheaded and languid to the gray dawn, and for the first time he knew that he would live.

*P FOR PROVERBS AND PUDDINGS

According to an old proverb "the proof of the pudding is in the eating" and man is a gullible test the taste of the pudding. Every man's appetite is whetted by the crisp winter air, and the ice cream and sherberts that were so popular in the good old summertime, are taking a back seat in favor of hot puddings and heavier desserts. Cool winter puddings are usually boiled or steamed and served hot or warm with your favorite pudding sauce. Steamed fruit puddings are frequently made and stored with the idea of resteaming later whenever a quick dessert is needed. Here is a mincemeat pudding which you will enjoy at this time of year.

MINCEMEAT JIFFY PUDDING
2 cups prepared mincemeat
1/2 cup brown sugar (*)
2 tablespoons flour
1/2 cup milk
3 tablespoons butter
1/2 cup whole wheat flour
Spread mincemeat in a greased pan. Combine sugar, flour and milk mixture, mix with cereal. Crumble over mincemeat. Bake in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) about 20 minutes. Serve warm with cream, if desired. Yield: 6-8 servings (8 x 8 x 2-inch pan). (* Sugar may be increased or decreased depending on sweetness of mincemeat.)

Sixteen light bulbs will supply an average household for two years. Battleships carry 7,000 bulbs in sockets and two spaces for each one in use, or a total of 21,000.

Blazing Oil

Threatened A Whole Village When Enemy Planes Scared a Hit Blazing oil, cascading down a hillside, threatened a whole village when our enemy planes bombed the Amuline oil and gas installation at Pembroke Dock in August, 1940, starting an 18-day fight against the most protracted oil fire of the war.

This and other big blazes of the war were recalled by V. J. Wilmoth to two members of the Institute of Petroleum in London, England, in 1944 when enemy planes bombed Esso's oil installation at Falmouth, escaping spirits flowed into a small stream in the valley below impounding a number of nearby houses.

Cottages were evacuated, barrels of empty drums and earth were built to confine the fiery overflows and the fire was overcome after 21 hours.

The Thames Estuary was the scene of a fire which lasted 5 1/2 days. In an enemy air attack on Sept. 6, 1940, six tanks were set afire. The first hatched six chickens Nov. 8 at 10 below zero, and outside, too. . . . The local paper has nominated Police Chief Lane of Penetanguishene, Ont., as having the biggest feed in Simcoe County. On Dec. 22, 1943, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Bowers of Neville, Simcoe, celebrated their 65th wedding anniversary on Dec. 1, while Mrs. Bowers observed her 85th birthday, both being well and enjoying life. . . . At Wolfville, N.S., Dr. L. B. Oakes reached 97 years young. . . . The gas station at Dunsden, British Columbia, on Lachute, Que., blazed and looked at the man who stopped for gas. It was General Andy McNaughton. A returned man, he had a friendly chat with the general. A cow in the family for 19 years, let out a snort and a stream of verbiage when an intruder broke into the barn, a garage in Kentville, N.S., that he fed in terror. . . . Times have changed says the Radville, Sack, Star, as there was a rush for council seats in direct contrast to jobs becoming less plentiful. At the Purple Vale Inn, Wainfleet, Ont., Gordon Gilbert took a bead on two wild geese, shot them, and discovered they were his uncles, two pet geese. It cost him a five-spot. . . .

During the first ten days of November, schools of salmon and mackerel have been in on the shores all along the eastern or sheltered side of Gaspé Manan, in New Brunswick, in quantities that have the older generation wondering if ever in their time they ever seen the like. . . .

THE Cobourg, Ont., Sentinel-Star makes the point that the church ought to be more conscious of the challenge of modern youth than is indicated at the present time. Think of the contribution the church could make to youth, if it would, and what young people could do for the Christian church by assisting in its spiritual strength and vitality in that direction. Let our parents, our youth, and our churches give careful consideration to the challenge which exists here. The matter is much too important to be neglected.

FORMER CWACs OPERATE OWN 6-ACRE FARM

With the assistance of rehabilitation officers, orders from the M.O. and a loan from the C.W.A.C. Mrs. Margaret Haskett, formerly of Simcoe, and Miss Gladys Costen, formerly of Niagara-on-the-Lake, both ex-members of the Canadian Women's Army Corps, have purchased six acres of land in the shores of Lake Ontario, and are operating a small farm and vegetable garden. The girls were both discharged medically unfit, and were advised by army doctors to try farming. It was primarily on this advice that they started on their business venture. Although the gratuity they had coming was not enough for the purchase price of the farm, the girls invested what they could in the land, and named it the Willow Cove Farm. The farm was purchased last March, and all the planting and other work has been done solely by the two of them. Farm expenses were supplied by Miss Costen, who has lived on a farm all her life and has many of the answers to planting and harvesting problems. She also drives the truck. Miss Haskett, who has never farmed in her life before, is doing a fine job on the business side of the picture. "We are so glad to own our own farm. Only recently we bought a new truck," said Miss Haskett, with a look of pride. "I like farming very much." Both girls were privates. Miss Haskett working in the rationing office and Miss Costen as a driver. Both agree that the farm is the only place to live.
